AQUINAS COLLEGE

Grand Rapids, Michigan

THOMIST

1966

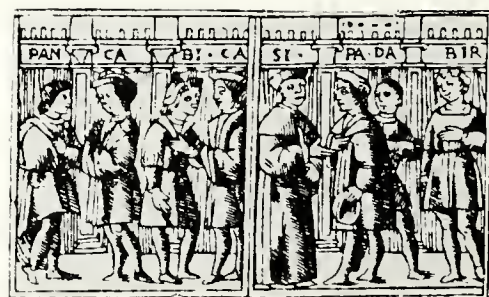

"If we wish to register the purpose of any whole and its parts we should mark first that each part is for its own proper activity; second, that the lower is for the higher; third, that all parts are for perfection of the whole; fourth, that whole man is for an intrinsic end, namely his enjoyment of God." Summa Theologica.

In this, the twentieth edition of the THOMIST, it is fitting to identify our theme to the words of him after whom this publication is named. In such instances throughout the book, we span seven centuries in heeding the applicability of the thoughts of Thomas Aquinas.

The Freshman approaches college with mixed emotions. However, he soon realizes that out of the chaos of registration day there soon follows an Honors Convocation for citation for high scholastic achievement. He also realizes that more important than achievement in life is commitment, a commitment that follows upon education.

The Administration Building houses libraries; the Science Hall houses laboratories. But our education does not stop in these. For, such an education would be insular. Rather, we are prepared to act and respond to the needs of society. We leave Aquinas liberally educated to follow our professors in dedication to Christian ideals.

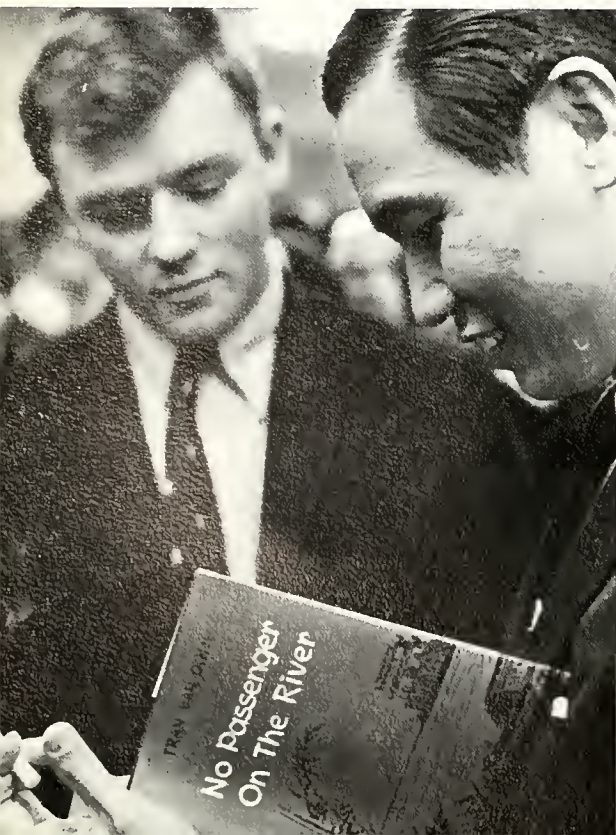

James Farmer, National Director of CORE, on a brief visit to Grand Rapids, is interviewed by an Aquinas student and photographed by Frank Kolenda.

To better acquaint the students with the needs of society, the faculty introduces us to modern leaders.

Father Twomey, S. J. of Loyola University in New Orleans, addresses us on the role of religion in solving modern problems.

The Honorable Tran van Dinh, former U. S. Ambassador from Vietnam, spoke to a capacity crowd on The Status of the Vietnamese War (lower left).

Gala Weekend 1965 was the tenth of its kind and to celebrate the anniversary Co-chairmen Dan Radawski and Maureen Rice present a cake to alumni members George Krupp, chairman of the first weekend, and Jacob Robinson, originator of the name Gala.

Ecumenism lives in the person of a Protestant monk, Brother Jacques Schiesser, who spoke to students and faculty on the purpose of his order, the unification of all Christians. He is a member of the Taize Order of France which is devoted to unification and whose rule is composed of a number of Christian rites including Catholic and Orthodox.

The Russian-born Baroness Catherine deHueck Doherty, founder of many Friendship Houses and the Madonna House Apostolate, was presented the eighth annual Aquinas Award at a special ceremony closing Honors Week in March. After the presentation, this vivacious Catholic woman spoke to all assembled, instilling in each deep respect as well as fervor for active Christian living.

ORGANIZATIONS

Delight of mind does not clog the use of reason; on the contrary we are more intent on what we more enjoy.

Summa Theologica

Each club has its representative at the Senate meetings to insure participation in activities programs.

STUDENT SENATE

President
Joseph Burns

Secretary
Maureen Rice

Treasurer
Gerald Burns

Frank Spica's Finance Committee meets before each Senate meeting to determine monetary points of concern. Members are Ken Wozniak, Mary Pyman, Stuart Splan, Gerry Burns, Christine Nawrocki, and Bruce Boland.

The Big Five of the Student Affairs Committee, led by Gene Smary, are Jim Doyle, Tom Veryser, Bob Bolger, and Dan Radawski.

The Programming Committee, led by Senior Cheri Mann, discusses future college lectures. Shown are Jim Weatherhead, John Wozniak, Jerry Hunsburger, Paula Kralovec, Noreen Byington. Missing are members Ken Neyer and Mary Jo Gibson.

WEGE COLLEGE CENTER

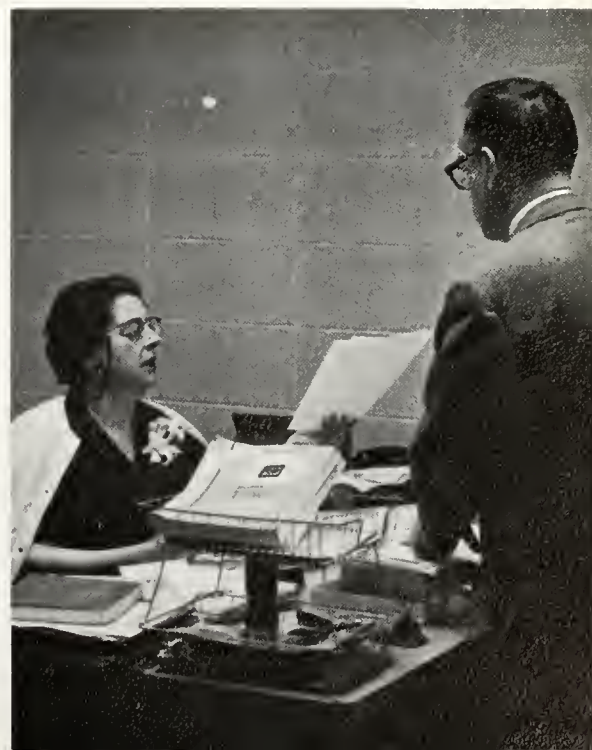

Wege Center was opened for full use during Homecoming Weekend in February. It includes a Book Store, equipped to sell most anything, a Snack Bar, the formal lounge, college dining room, private dining rooms, meeting rooms, the ballroom-auditorium, as well as private offices for student activities and the game room. What did we do without it?

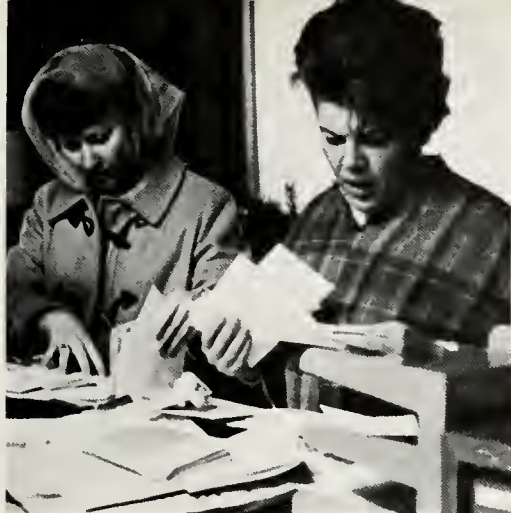

College Center Council Chairmen are Janet Esch and Dan Radawski. It is through them that organizations schedule activities and make reservations for use of center facilities.

DORM LIFE

Newly elected officers of the Men's Dorm Council Dave Connell, Jim McCormick, Ken Ayotte, and Steve Bird join the Women's Residence Council Penny Gorbach, Barb Workman, Mary Sheridan, and Judy Konrek to complete the ranks of representatives of resident students.

Frank Kolenda earned his picture on the Thomist page. He is a member of the National Press Photographers Association and is also photographer for the Aquinas Herald. Not shown are assistant photographers, Paul Douglas and Chris Longcore.

Judy Stimac, Organizations Editor, works hard and long to make her section accurate and as up-to-date as possible. Not pictured here is Judy Longcore, Faculty Editor.

Jim Prawdzik, Business Manager, shows just how versatile he is! He's great with that glue jar.

Artist Marilyn Martin touches up a layout as Marcia Clapp gives advice. Both Marilyn and Marcia are always on hand to give suggestions and help when needed.

THOMIST STAFF

John Wozniak and Jim Ahnemiller are the working two-some, always glad to finish their section, Activities. Not pictured with the staff is co-worker Anne Frost, editor of Seniors division.

Moderator Elizabeth Jennings and Editor Mary Pyman spend many hours putting the finishing touches on submitted layouts.

Staff support comes from Paul Mc Carthy, Sherri Coe, Maureen Rice, and Terry Green, all smiling — even before a deadline.

Proofreading is quite a job as Mary Sheridan and Carol Feinauer can well say.

Sheila Kavanagh, Ron Kramer, and Sandy Herman, sub-editors, put their heads together to produce an edition.

Staff artist Jan Guerriero has only snatches of time for reading.

Gerry Hunsburger and Anne Marie Laporte keep the books balanced.

Editors Cheri Mann and Judy Fudold breathe a sigh of relief as another edition is finished.

Dr. Remington, smiling moderator, is lone man on this executive board.

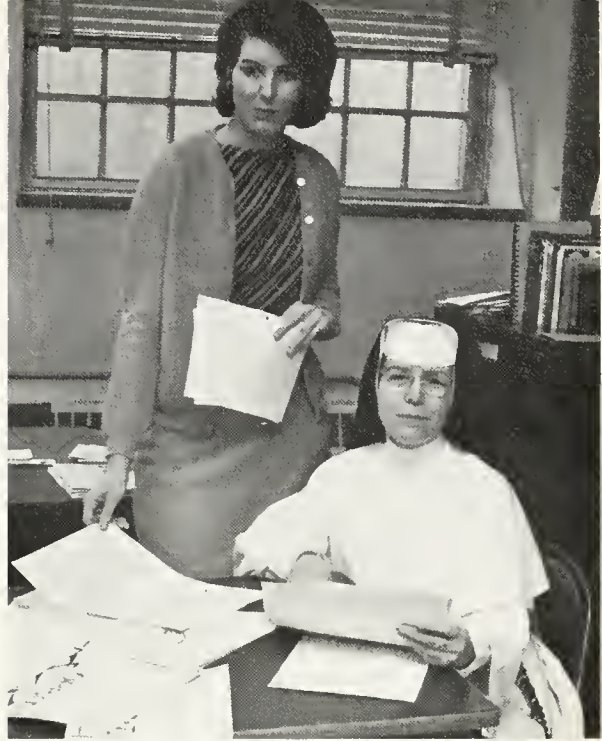

WEEKLY

Kathy Hoover plus typewriter means final draft of the newspaper.

"Copywriters are important too!" attest Eileen Stickney and Anne Locke, silently upheld by Claud Inch and Tom Wojdygo. Staff artist Ed Manning adds his creative aid, in addition.

ORBIT

FRENCH CLUB

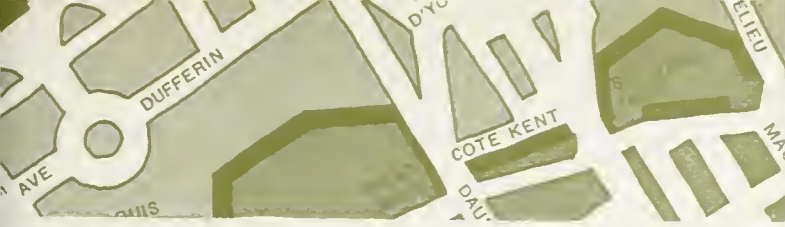

Officers Skamie Madges, John Brooks, Jim Frawdon, and Donna Danterovska return to the scene of their beginning - the lab - with club moderator Sister W. Norbert. O R

Registration week finds active club members recruiting French.

— the French corner of Gala and a French success.

"Le Bonhomme" again greeted the travelling French Club on their arrival in Quebec during semester break.

Le Barillet PUB

President Bonnie Mattingly and moderator Mr. Wiggins meet with Barb Kantorowski and Bill Schmiedicke to show the well-equipped language lab.

Old Heidelberg was even bigger and better at this Fall's GALA — if that can be !

GERMAN CLUB

Big blast canoe trips are often projects of the club planners. This one was no exception.

Moderator Mr. Soler finds time to meet with officers Tom Saenz, Mary Ann Anderson, Sharon Clemen, Barbara Bosch, and Pat Vincent. President Saenz was an active promoter of this year's money-making project – the Fiesta, which poured forth Spanish flavor.

SPANISH CLUB

BOOSTERS

Jim Weatherhead, Janet Esch, and Matt Burns give their support to the Varsity Club in encouraging greater student participation at sporting events.

VARSITY CLUB

Officers Joe O'Toole, Tom Steiner, and Paul McCarthy head the club consisting of varsity sport letter winners.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

International Relations Club officers stop for a moment: Jim Flickinger, Don Duczkowski, Linda Alec and Ron Loeffler.

The Club's big project — sponsoring the Kingtones Dance in February — was a big success, proceeds going toward an Easter trip to Washington, D. C.

PEOPLE-TO- PEOPLE

This year Aquinas sports an increasing number of participants in the national People to People program, designed to foster knowledge and appreciation of different cultures. Headed by senior Eleanor Schick, the group includes Joe Burns, Dan Lee, Ken Neyer, Ron Bostwick, Anne Frost, Judy Fudold, and Mary Ann Leik. Ken and Eleanor, the old pros on Europe, give much advice to the prospective continental travellers.

The Aquinas Volunteers is a newly-formed group, combining efforts for the benefit of YCS, OPLA, and Operation Appalachia. They are governed by a board consisting of Kathy Bleyaert, Rosemary Gustina, Chuck Petronek, Maureen Rice, Angela Lee, Sandra Herman, Bernadette Bekken, and Joan Attermeyer.

OPERATION APPALACHIA

Ready to bid "adios" to Aquinas for a summer among the people of Guatemala are volunteers: Dennis Adomaitis, Mike Flaherty, Greg Gregwer, Bill T. Murphy, Sue Hansknecht, Julie Otterbein, Bernadette Arends, Bernie Bekken, Kathy Bleyaert, and Joanne Chorny. Monsignor Bukowski and Father Suarez join the group for a picture before departure. Not present are Mary Ellen Miles and Pat Dauksza.

OPLA

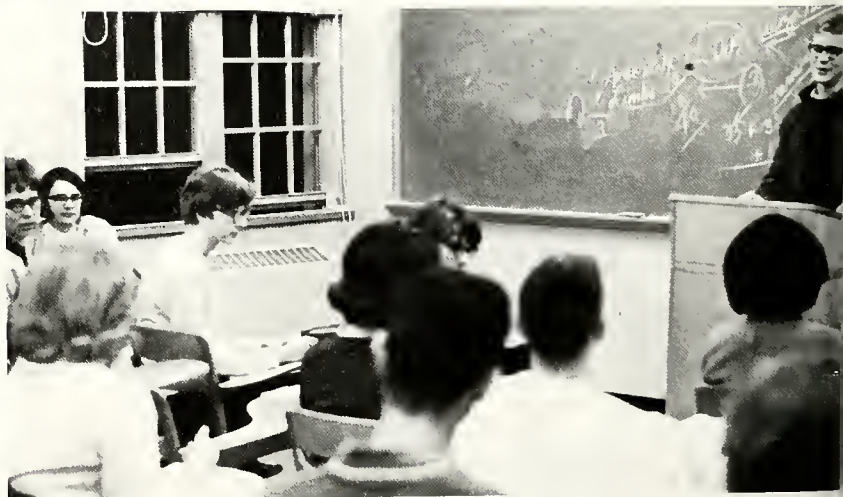

Volunteer duties are many and varied from building to ironing to teaching the children. Each job endears Guatemala to Aquinas students.

Moderator Father Lozier pauses with Tom Vyerser, Janet Attemeyer, and Ray Bogush, chairmen of three of the five cells, active units of YCS.

Acclaimed by students and faculty alike as one of the most beneficial projects sponsored on campus was the YCS' Film Festival. Father Beahan opened the series in February by lecturing on the artistic aspects of Bergman's The Virgin Spring. Other foreign films presented were Through a Glass Darkly, Wild Strawberries, La Dolce Vita, and The Parable.

Janet Attemeyer, general secretary, and Charles Schaffer, general president, preside over meetings at which all five cells exchange ideas.

Officers: Mike Beasy, Jerry Hunsburger, Mike Benjamin, and Jim Badaluco conduct a meeting in the absence of moderators Mr. Bennett and Mr. Casey to set plans for their dance – Cupid's Casual.

BUSINESS CLUB

DEBATE

Debaters Ken Wozniak, Stella Mudd, and Dennis Lieber led the club to a 16-4 record, aided by Tom Kotulak and Lois McDonald.

BIOLOGY CLUB

President John Haslem, Vice-president Tom Yared, Secretary Pat Scruby, Treasurer Chris Jesky, and Pre-medical chairman Dan Radawski include moderators Miss Crowley and Dr. Bouwman in their scientific plans.

Experimental research using the scientific method as well as heeding advice of guest lecturer neurologists are each vital parts of a science major's curriculum.

President of the Music Club Bill Schultz and moderator Sister M. Annette, O.P., discuss musical musings with Connie Kiel and Barb Sabourin.

Fred Wilcome and Pat Steve have learned their piano-playing art well, as Mr. Hopkins can see.

MUSIC CLUB

Solo instrumentalists contribute their talent to the club's activities.

Psychology Club moderator Mr. Jacokes and officers, Jerry Van Leeuwen and Jim Doyle, discuss plans for better equipping their members to function in their important roles in modern society.

PSYCHOLOGY CLUB

President Jim Doyle organizes club members for active duty in the community. Their current project: aiding retarded children at Lincoln Foundation School.

SOCIAL SCIENCE FORUM

Social Science Forum officers Tom Sciamanna, Nancy Caldwell, Mary Ellen Lezon, Sue Polzin, Maureen Harley, Dennis Dubay, and Clem Simon meet with Sister M. Brendan, O.P., moderator, in conjunction with a spring panel presentation.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS

Finding Young Democrats in an off-election year is easier than finding Young Republicans, as can be seen. Dem members are Dennis Dubay, Tim Konieczny, Dennis Ruppel, Nancy Caldwell, Jean Belasak, and Mary Spreitzer.

ΦΑΘ

Phi Alpha Theta, history honor society, admitted new members Jim Prawdzik, Bob Windver, Bob Penning, Sister Anne, O. P., Z. Z. Lydens, Penny Gorbach, and Bill Zoller at its February initiation banquet.

Sister Aline congratulates Lorraine Denby, Kathryn Weiss, Carol Feinaeur, Tom Gietzen, Stan Fortuna, and Mary C. Fallon on their 4.0 scholastic averages. Not shown are Margaret Janetzke and Dorothy DeLong.

ΚΓΠ

Maureen Rice was recipient of the St. Catherine's Medal, awarded each year to a Junior girl for outstanding scholarship and leadership. Mrs. Evelyn Bartosiewicz, president of Grand Rapids chapter of Kappa Gamma Pi, congratulates Maureen at the Honors' Banquet.

Sister Bride and officers Cheryl Nahs and Marilou Lascari lead bi-monthly discussions of currently discussed literature.

LAMBDA IOTA TAU

ΛIT

Interested students join active members in bringing themselves up-to-date in the field of literature.

SENIORS

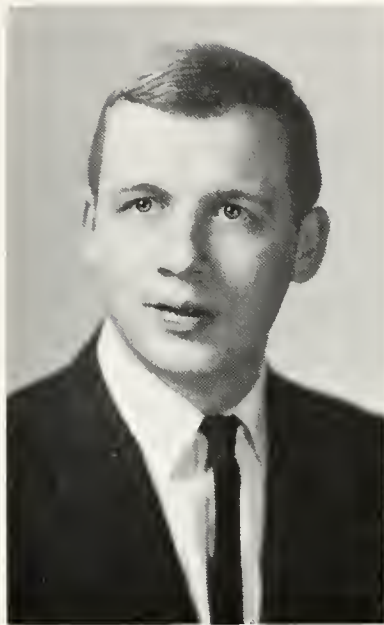

Wonder is a kind of desire in knowing. It is the cause of delight because it carries the hope of discovery.

ACTIVITIES

There is no free play of mind except where the senses are fit and vigorous.

Summa Theologica

ROSARY PROCESSION

Rain characterized both the dedication of the College Center and Rosary Procession, but undampened spirits carried on.

"The sun shines from outside us, but the sun of the mind, which is God, lights from within."

Summa Theologica

RETREAT

"GALA 1965" - termed by all as a great success. The Inaugural Ball of Friday evening opened the weekend. Pictured above, surrounding Queen Christine Jesky and King Robert Shaner, are members of the court: Freshmen Anne Sheridan and Ed Manning, Sophomores Joyce Hengesbach and Matt Burns, Juniors Barb Workman and Ken Neyer, and General Chairmen Dan Radawski and Maureen Rice. Not pictured are the behind-the-scenes workers: Entertainment Chairmen Gene Smary and Sue Sandborn, Dance - Jan Esch and Pete Daunt, Dinner - Paula Kralovec and Jo Wojewski, Parents' Reception - Marilou Lascari and Ken Neyer, and Finance - Tom Fitzgerald, Joe Burns, and Gerry Burns. AT LEFT: King and Queen Chris share the opening dance. BELOW: The tent on Saturday nite was the scene of the informal dance which featured the Rivas of "California Sun" fame.

The carnival of Sunday began full swing at noon, just as the sun appeared from behind storm clouds. The crowds were thick and "fun and games" widespread.

Mother (alias John Wozniak) visited the big tent, advertising MOTHER'S a GO-GO, the discotheque of OPLA.

Father Gannon joined the troops in the middle of the creek during Saturday's infamous "TUG-O-WAR".

Friday evening arrived, and faculty were on hand to welcome alumni to the seafood smorgasbord.

The Homecoming Game began with a ribbon-bedecked car caravan leading students to the scene of the anticipated victory on the basketball floor.

Queen Gayle Stratton and escort Terry Walsh smile over the success of Homecoming weekend. Gayle is assisted by her court, Jeannie Mazique, Patricia Russell, and Rita Selinsky in reigning over each phase of the three day celebration.

The game was played Sunday afternoon, a fitting climax to festivities, with the home team – the TOMMIES – victorious. A new aspect of cheerleading was seen at this game – the men cheerers.

CHEERLEADERS

Varsity Cheerleaders: Mary Laberteaux, Rita Mayan, Sue Sandborn, Ann DePauw, Judy Stimac, and Diane Rollins.

Junior Varsity: Margo Maurer, Naeda Brasic, Anne Pip, Linda Vasquez.

MUSIC

The members of the combined choir, under the direction of Sister Annette and Dr. Hieber presented the Christmas Concert at Mayflower Congregational Church. Members of the Pep Band add their own music to each basketball game.

Presented by the Aquinas College Players at the Grand Rapids Civic Theatre, November 12 through 14, "Royal Gambit" foreshadows the logical conclusions of Henry VIII's actions in the present day disintegration of family life.

The play was presented on a near-bare stage with the cross which ironically signifies Henry's title of Defender of the Faith brooding over the scenes.

Sister Mary de Chantal, O.P., and Jack Rang were co-directors of the production. Costumes for the production were designed and made by the students.

ROYAL GAMBIT

Miss Horgan is shown as she appeared on the screen for one of the Yeats' lectures. Representatives from the English, music, history, speech, and theology departments participated in the Centennial series. The team approach, used by Aquinas the last three terms, has given Scholar diversified programming.

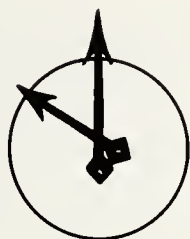

Sister M. Bride, O.P., coordinator of this Fall's offering, "Two Centennial Poets: Dante and Yeats", confers with Director Bill Wild about visuals to be used for the class.

Aquinas professors who have participated in WOOD-TV's "Ten O'clock Scholar" during its six years on the air learned quickly that TV teaching is frustratingly demanding. Sister Mary Bride, who has been on-camera for two different semesters, speculates that preparing a half-hour Class takes three times as long as a regular col. class,

You can't just stand and lecture for half an hour. You have to search for visuals, pictures, charts, graphs, pieces of sculptures or art that will illustrate your points. You have to write out the script, decide where visuals will be used, and then time yourself – cause you can't hold your students for a few minutes after the "bell" to finish up. Then there is a conference with the director for a half an hour before each show and a short one afterwards about any "special effects" needed for the next week.

Aquinas is one of four colleges who have been a part of "Ten O'clock Scholar" since its inception by WOOD-TV in 1960. The number of participating colleges and universities has risen to thirteen and WOOD polls show an audience of at least 20,000 persons. There are two Scholar terms a year, each running sixteen weeks; and Aquinas has provided the professors for one or two terms each year.

Sister Maris Stella, O.P., takes a last look at her script while the lighting engineer adjusts the lamps with two minutes to "curtain."

SCHOLAR

Jack Rang, speech instructor, oversees a rehearsal of "Purgatory," one of Yeats' Noh plays, which are imitations of a Japanese drama form, for one of the Scholar productions.

Father Hugh Michael Beahan, Diocesan Director of Radio and Television, confers with Business Manager Fred Beahan.

Program Director James Drummond and Traffic Manager Mary O'Neill combine efforts to provide listeners with high quality entertainment.

Two of the student announcers are Dennis Lieber and Dick Alt. It was Dick and Bob Bolger who originated the student favorite, "Campus After Hours."

Bob LeVasseur times Brian Williams in the recording booth.

WXTO

The Diocesan Radio Station, located at Aquinas, is the core of many and varied student activities from announcing to technical work in the recording booth. Other student announcers are Don Atkins, Bill Schultz, Brian Dorrien, and John Sharpe.

Announcer Terry Carlson looks over albums he will use on his show.

The week of March 27 – April 3 saw the annual Carousel of Arts presented by the students, under the chairmanship of Charles Petranek. STUDIO 352 housed the art show, where the emphasis was on people. Throngs visited the exhibits of student work.

CAROUSEL OF ARTS

Tuesday evening was characterized by "the beat" of the Jazz Band of Michigan State University, playing to avid listeners in the Wege Center Auditorium.

Wednesday and DRAMA NIGHT! Students of the Drama Department presented scenes from currently-discussed plays, improvisations, as well as modern dance demonstrations.

Poet-priest Father Robert Badra of Lansing read excerpts from his poems and novel to the enraptured audience in the informal surroundings of the lounge on Sunday, April third.

EXPEDITION IN POP was the title of Saturday night's presentation. The Margie Martin Folk Trio, The New World Singers, and our own Christom Dennis Trio were on the billing, with Brother Matthew, C.Ss.R. as master of ceremonies. Shown is the trio, Dennis Gavigan, Chris Smozel, and Tom Van Stee.

Eugene Ionesco's works were on the French format, as the French Club, representing the only foreign language presentation in Carousel, performed La Lecon on Sunday afternoon. Donna Zamierowski, Lyn Lajiness, and Chuck Shaffer, under the direction of John McCaffrey, successfully carried off this Theater of the Absurd production. Immediately following was the reading La Cantatrice Chauve, along with the Chorus' rendering of favorite folk songs of the French. The entire evening was climaxed by a banquet for all members of the department and their guests.

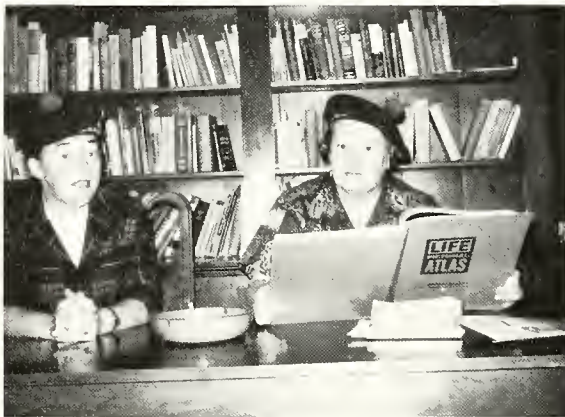

STUDENT LIFE

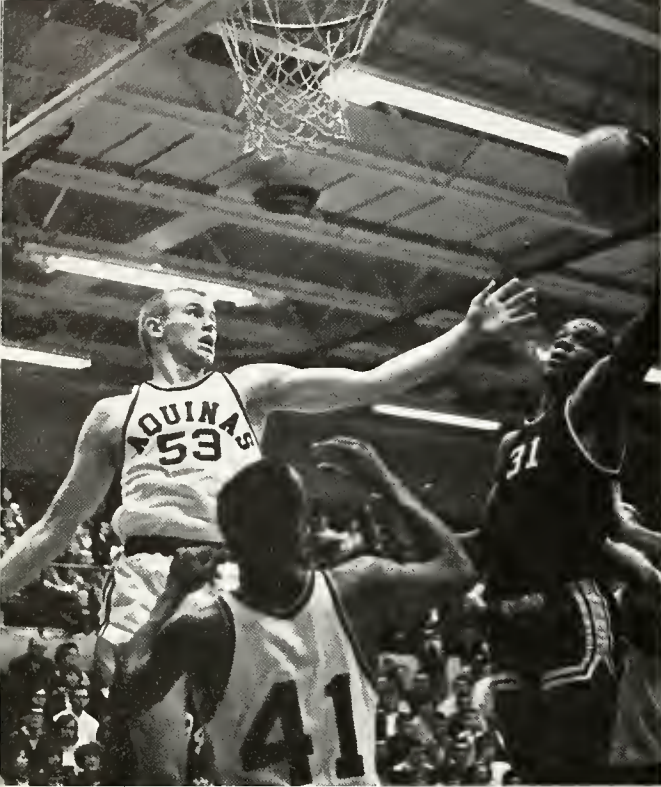

Campus life involves active participation in the affairs of the country, the state, and the college itself. Interest in our society is spurred on by discussions, public or private, invariably guided by dedicated faculty members.

SPORTS

BOWLING

Mr. Wiggins, one of the "elders" of the league, shows that good "ole German" form.

The position of the feet is an important factor in bowling, as exhibited here by Dan Gerrity.

CROSS-COUNTRY

The 1965 Cross-Country squad once again proved their "validity" as Aquinas' winningest sport. Posting a fine 23-5 mark, the Tommies successfully combined effort, balance, and stamina under the guidance of Coach Red Dornbos. Tom Hinck, a former New Jersey star, combined with John Haslem to exemplify the harrier spirit by capturing nine "firsts" in twelve seasonal meets. In the NCAA meet at Wheaton, Illinois, the Tommies climaxed their record-breaking year by out-distancing 25 entrees from 40 schools.

INTRAMURAL FOOTBALL

Excitement, thrills, and bruises again dominated the scene at Wilcox Park, home field of Aquinas' Intramural Football. In the eight team circuit, the Sophomores dominated the "wars of pigskin" with a perfect 9-0 mark.

SWIMMING TEAM

This year the Tommies have added another sport to their growing athletic program, that of swimming.

The newly organized team consists of seniors Frank Spica, backstroke; John Otterbacher, freestyle; and Bob Bonazzi, freestyle. Juniors, Jim Stewart, diving; Bill Bolger, freestyle; Dave Blashiw, butterfly. Sophomores, Phil (the man with the stop watch) Oreste, breast stroke; and Stu Splan, butterfly. Freshmen, Joe Antonucci, diving, John Deakin, freestyle, and Frank Shipp, breaststroke.

Action and stick-to-itiveness are characteristics of each Tommie game. Spirit really soared at the game at which Denny Alexander broke the college record for top-scorer (upper right). Even Coach Dornbos worries once in a while.

GOLF TEAM

TRACK

TENNIS

Coach Lou McNamara leads his team to its first spring match. Pictured (not in order) are John Uskert, Bob Payne, Joe Hesse, Rocky Kinsman, Jim Ahern, Kevin Misiewicz, and John Fogarasi.

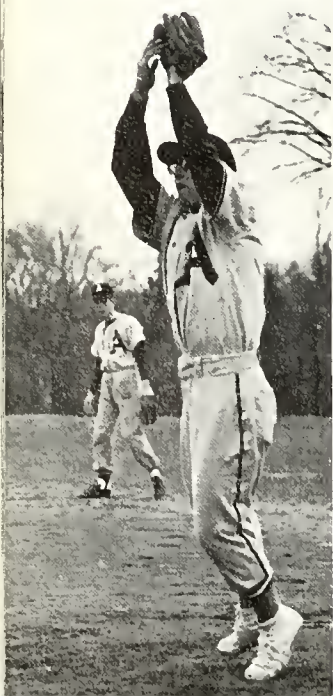

WOMEN'S TENNIS TEAM members Pat Scruby, Peg Janetzke, Andrea Haga, Nancy Caldwell, Coach Mrs. VanderVeen, Angie Amman, Marge Laske, Pat O'Neill, Maureen Murphy take time from their weekly practice on the tennis courts to exhibit their skills.

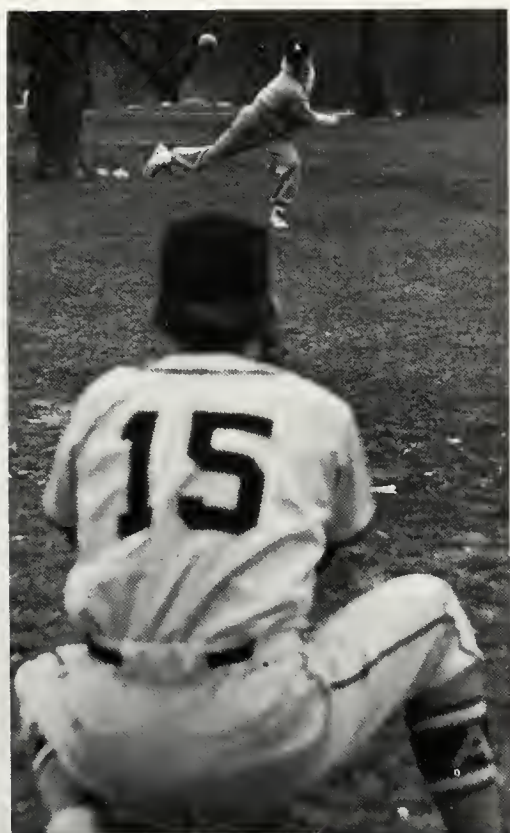

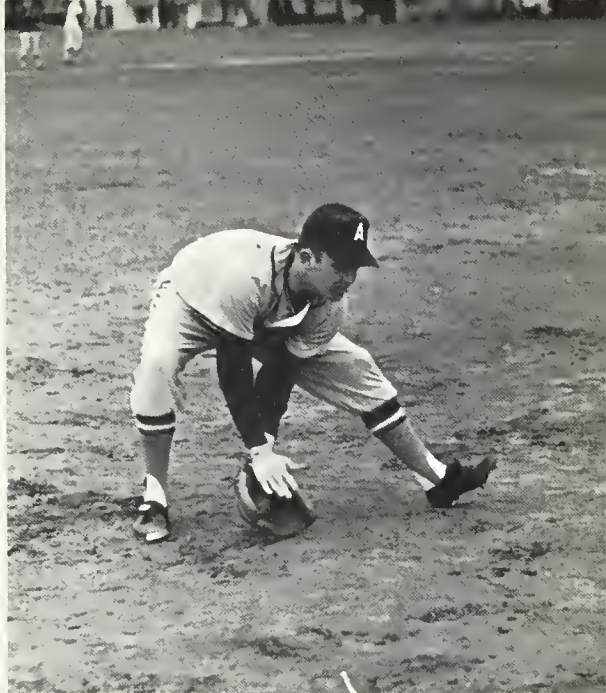

1st Row (front) : N. Birchmeier, B. Topper, D. Copper, J. Lehmkuhl, D. Messing,

2nd Row: G. Barns, R. Kramer, D. Syrek, P. Jagels, J. McCabe, T. Graff, J. Erins.
3rd Row: Coach Ken Konesny, M. Sandborn, A. Horisny, D. Farrer, F. Farrer,
D. Zavesky, M. Bergin, P. McCarthy.

BASEBALL

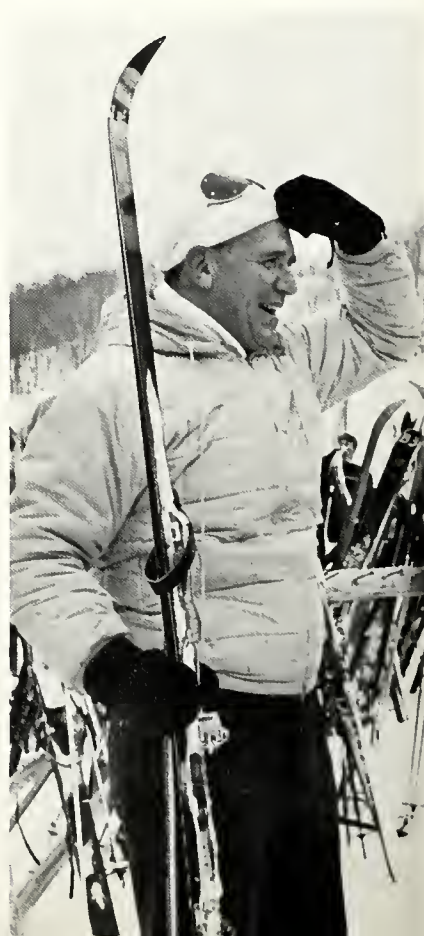

The newly-organized baseball team has high hopes for a winning season in every way. Members practice and exercise weekly in an effort to keep fit for competition.

Boyne Highlands was the scene of the Ski Trip over semester break. Forty-strong, members and Father Hart braved the wintry elements and were greeted by athlete Terry Barr at the lodge.

SKI CLUB

Every skier, old or new, needs a few lessons to brush up on skills. Aquinites are no exception, shown here in classes in the snow. After a day of this, the pick-me-up coffee is more than welcome for Chris and Dave.

Frank Kolenda, photographer for the Thomist and Herald receives award for Spot News Coverage from Dick Rogers, Michigan Press Photographers Association Awards Chairman at their convention in Detroit.

So we come to the end of this year in print with acknowledgment and thanks going to those who made the twentieth edition of the THOMIST possible. This book presents only in part the spark guiding Aquinas students to dedication and participation in Christian ideals.
